U.S. MARSHALS SEARCH FOR MAN WHO SHOT PREGNANT WOMAN

Reward of up to $2,500 being offered for information directly leading to arrest

SAN FRANCISCO – The U.S. Marshals in the Northern District of California have joined the manhunt for Ricardo Colindres, 26, who is wanted on two counts of attempted murder and attempted kidnapping after he shot a pregnant woman in Pacifica, California, on April 27.

The incident occurred at the Casa Pacifica Apartments at approximately 8:10 a.m., when Colindres allegedly tried to abduct his ex-girlfriend before shooting her in the head. The victim, reportedly 8 months pregnant at the time, was transported to the hospital and is expected to recover.

Colindres reportedly fled the complex and has not been seen since. The vehicle that Colindres was driving has also not been located. It is described as a silver 2003 Toyota Corolla, bearing California license plate 6CGN644.

The U.S. Marshals are offering a reward of up to $2,500 for information leading to the location and arrest of Colindres. Anyone with information is encouraged to call the U.S. Marshals at 1-800-336-0102, or email usms.wanted@usdoj.gov.

The U.S. Marshals have also added Colindres to the Northern California Most Wanted website, which can be accessed with the following link: <http://northerncaliforniamostwanted.org>. “We are enlisting the public’s help in our effort to find Mr. Colindres,” said Don O’Keefe, U.S. Marshal for the Northern District of California. “An assault like this on a member of our community is an assault on us all. The fact that Ms. Johnson was 8 months pregnant makes this act even more heinous, and only increases our resolve in bringing the perpetrator to justice.”
